The conservation and restoration of books, manuscripts, documents and ephemera is an activity dedicated to the preservation and protection of items of historical and personal value made primarily from paper, parchment, and leather. When applied to cultural heritage, conservation activities are generally undertaken by a conservator. The primary goal of conservation is to preserve the lifespan of the object as well as maintaining its integrity by keeping all additions reversible.

Conservation and Restoration The art of papier mâché, like all other art forms, is an individual expression and there are no right or wrong ways to do things. With conservation and restoration however, there definitely "is" a right and a wrong way to do it! So we sought expert advice to help answer some of the questions that we have been asked.
